

The Fourth Grade News January 19 - 22

Dear Families,

The new quarter begins already and I know we will have an awesome one. I am enjoying my time with this class immensely and it is a joy to be their teacher. Report cards go home on Friday.

A reminder, the January book report is due Monday, January 31. The next book report will be a science project on a particular bird. Your student will know this week what bird they are to focus on for the Bird Report Project and they will be encouraged to look for a book in the classroom as well as in the library. I am trying to let them choose their birds but I want a variety of them since they will present orally to the class. This project is due February 25th.

On January 31 the book order is also due.

Off we go on another week!

Love,
Mrs. Aram
