March 8th-12th

Dear Ones,

We have had a great week sharing our Bird Projects and moving forward in our studies. The Mission Reports from our field trip are awesome, and the class is showing great progress in the writing skills we are working on.

Just a reminder! Be sure your child turns in the $5.00 needed to purchase his/her owl pellet by Wednesday.

This is the last week of quarter collecting. If possible, please give your student an opportunity to earn some quarters and help our class to make an awesome contribution to this project.

We are going to be in great need of parents to help with the Mile of Quarters. Adult supervision will be crucial. Please consider being here on Friday after chapel to help out. Your assistance will help make this effort a success. Please contact the office for the details.

I have included a special letter to you as parents with this week's Monday Letter. It is very important that you read this and send it back signed, so I can be sure you got this information. This letter explains some changes that you will see in the Monday Letters from now on and some needed changes in classroom procedures.

The March Book Report assignment should include the completion of the Mission Packet and the preparation of a 3 paragraph report from their research.

Here we go, off to another week!

Love,

Mrs. Aram
